

Saint Joseph's University

Philadelphia, PA, United States
Spring City Electrical

Founded in 1851 by the Society of Jesus, Saint Joseph's University is one of the oldest Jesuit institutions of higher education in the United States. Located on Hawk Hill along City Avenue in Philadelphia, the campus sits near Lower Merion Township and offers a traditional collegiate setting just minutes from Center City Philadelphia.

Campus site lighting was implemented to improve safety, visibility, and nighttime aesthetics throughout pedestrian pathways and gathering areas. Decorative poles and luminaires from Spring City Electrical Manufacturing Company were installed to provide consistent illumination while complementing the university's classic campus architecture.

The lighting system was delivered through a partnership between Spring City Electrical Manufacturing Company and Independence Lighting, creating an efficient and cohesive lighting environment for students, faculty, and visitors.